

RUSSIAN SIBERIA AGAINST BACKGROUND OF CHANGES IN STATEHOOD

The issue of preserving the integrity of Russia is of interest both in Russia itself and in other States. Statehood remains the object of close attention, both of our friends and opponents. The disintegration and disappearance of Russia was predicted by J. Kiez. Brzezinski did a lot for the destruction of Russia. It is impossible to list all those interested. But Russia, under various names, was recovering from difficult times, remaining one of the significant players in geopolitics. The purpose of the article is to identify the cause of stability in Russia. The publication aims to analyze ways to preserve the territorial integrity of Russia, identify the reasons for its decentralization, identify threats to the integrity of the Russian state, and identify the place of Siberia in Russia. The conclusion of the article is that Russia has a significant margin of safety, and the inhabitants of Siberia consistently identify themselves as an integral part of the Russian people.
